OE Medical Society Black Tie Dinner 8th March 2019, 7.00 for 7.30pm Cutlers' Hall

Terracotta frieze on the outside wall, showing cutlers at their work, carved by Benjamin Creswick (1853-1946)

President of the OE Medical Society, Phil Mitchell (G 1982-84); Junior President, Anna Halstead (Cr 2008-13); and former Clerk to The Worshipful Company of Cutlers, John Allen (Cr 1961-66), are delighted to invite OE and parent medics and dentists to the Society's Black Tie Dinner on Friday, 8th March at a fabulous new venue for the Society: Cutlers' Hall, 4 Warwick Lane, London EC4M 7BR.

Cutlers' Hall stands on the former site of the Royal College of Physicians and is home to one of the oldest livery companies of the City of London. The Company is also linked to medicine through the range of surgical instruments produced by its members. Prior to dinner, John has very kindly offered to give guests a tour of the Company's collections, which in addition to surgical instruments, include tools dating from the Stone Age and jewel-encrusted dress swords.

The Society's annual dinner is a great opportunity both to catch up with friends and to meet OEs and parents from a full range of medical and dental careers spanning all generations. If you would like to attend, please complete and return the attached form with your payment by Friday, 1st March, or send an email with the information required to Sue Croucher at oeclub@epsomcollege.org.uk. You are also very welcome to bring a medic/dentist guest.

The cost of the three-course dinner with wine is £95 per person, with concessions for young OE medics and dentists, OEs in full-time education and Sixth Form students considering these careers. The concessions would not be possible without the generous support of established members of the Society and if you are able to help subsidise a place this year, it would be very much appreciated.

We hope to see you on 8th March and in the meantime, if you are a LinkedIn user, please do join the OE Medical Society group.
